Crime's Loud Voice
Earth's Ozone Blanket
Wise Ben Franklin

The Postmaster's Fleet

Crimes speak louder than words, and very loud in this fair country just now.

A man arrested in Chicago, accused of participating in the "St. Valentine's day massacre," was delighted to find that "only policemen" were after him.

Said he: "I am glad to see you; I thought some guys were going to take me for a ride sure."

More interesting in the fact that the well-known gambler, Rothstein, whose murder puzed New York's police and baffled the district attorney, was probably killed by a man who will never be convicted, for the reason that himself has since been murdered by Rothstein's friends.

Even our able corporations might learn something about efficient organization from our able criminals.

Scientists of Smithsonian Institution hope to learn about magnetic disturbances and weather phenomena generally by studying the earth's "ozone blanket."

That "blanket" is a thin layer of superior atmosphere, thirty miles up. By measuring the thickness and contents of the earth's ozone blanket, it may be possible to tell what is happening on the sun, 93,000,000 miles away.

It might be possible also later to bring down some of that ozone, with its wonderful qualities for the improvement of the lungs and blood.

Faure advertisements may read: "Ozone fresh from the ozone blanket every day."

Going up thirty miles from the earth's surface seems a great achievement.

But a microbe living on the face of an ordinary apple would do as much if he rose from the surface of his apple as much as one-hundredth part of an inch.

Thirty miles is much less than one two-hundredth part of the earth's diameter.

Here is good advice for youth or old age:

"Dost thou love life? Then do not squander time, for that is the stuff life is made of."

More good advice is this:

"He, that goes a-borrowing, goes a-sorrowing."

And for a nation in which eighty-old men out of a hundred die worth less than $100, this is valuable:

"A man may, if he knows not how to save as he gets, keep his nose to the grindstone."

These wise things were said by Benjamin Franklin, born 224 years ago. There is material for a thousand good sermons in Franklin's common sense talk.

Mr. Brown, postmaster general, suggests a $70,000,000 program to build a fleet of North Atlantic superships for American passengers and mail.

The postmaster demands "a service which could compete with any foreign flag service on the North Atlantic."

Americans will congratulate Postmaster Brown and President Hoover on that proposition, and hope that they will not only compete with but eclipse every foreign service on the North Atlantic and everywhere else.

Why should a country with the best engineers, from the President down, and with more money than anybody else, ever play second fiddle on the ocean or in the air?

The only negro student at West Point is dismissed "honorably" for deficiency in mathematics.

Sixty-three white men failed in examinations with him and were also dismissed.

Prejudice had nothing to do with it, although Alonzo Souleigh Parham, the negro cadet dismissed, is the fourth to enter the academy and the eleventh to be dismissed at the end of six months.

Another cut in the cost of travel by air. The "transcontinental Air Transport" on its "air-rail-water" trip "around the Americas," cuts $100 off the price of a 16-day tour.

Air transportation is settling down to a business basis.

William H. Mullins, son of the late James Mullins, and, like his father, among the most highly respected men in Ohio, gives to Salem a home for nurses. This gift, in memory of his mother, sets an excellent example to others that can afford to be generous.

Young Americans, wondering "if there is still a chance," might study Mr. Mullins' start in business on his own account. When very young he saw a locomotive that had been in a smashup on the Fort Wayne road that he bought for its value as "scrap," set himself and two or three mechanics to work, restored it and sold it for enough to start what became a big successful business.

There are chances for those that have energy.

WINTER SPORTS IN GRAYLING

Grayling is referred to in the Sunday edition of Bay City Daily Times as the "Capitol City of Winter Sports of Michigan."

Mr. George H. Winkler, prominent lumberman of Saginaw, Mich., called up Monday morning inquiring about road conditions and advised that on Friday of this week he was bringing up a party of eight from Saginaw for the week end to participate in our winter sports.

The official opening carnival of our winter sports will be held on Saturday and Sunday, February 8th and 9th. The program will be in charge of the Board of Trade Slide commit-for a party of 17 for Feb. 1st and 2nd.

C. W. Montrose is planning on getting motion pictures of the toboggan slide on Friday night of this week. It will be a night picture with flares for illumination. The flares will be carried upon the toboggans and, he says, will make a sensational picture. Everybody interested should be at the hill that evening.

GRAYLING DEBATING ONAWAY JAN. 24

On this date, January 24, 266 high schools of the state represented by 798 high school debaters will meet in 100 debates. Upon the completion of this fourth and final round of debates, the records established by all member schools in the four debates will be computed and the 64 schools with the highest records will be declared eligible to enter the Elimination Series of debates which will begin on February 14.

The affirmative team, composed of Libby Matson, Jessie Lyle and Jerome Kesseler, meet the negative team from Onaway in the fourth debate of the season at the school auditorium this Friday. The question for the debate is the same as has been used before, "Resolved, that a judge or board of judges should be substituted for the jury-in-all trials in state and municipal courts of Michigan," but the opposite side of the proposition is being defended.

Debate Times has a staff reporter, Mr. Elmer Goff, here for three days writing stories about this section, while C. W. MONTROSE is cooperating with him with his motion camera. We are slowly but surely becoming established as a Winter Resort as well as Summer and we can keep up the good work and each year enlarge our Winter program, it won't be long before we can advertise to the world that Grayling is an ALL YEAR ROUND Resort City.

At Lake Margretie we now have in operation two toboggan slides, opportunities for snowshoeing, hiking, skating, fishing thru the ice, in fact everything to attract the lovers of the Great Out-of-doors.

Whatever success we have made so far is due entirely to the loyalty of our citizenship towards our Board of Trade who are sponsoring all of these projects. Let's keep the ball rolling and then watch us grow.

"GRAYLING, THE CAPITOL CITY OF Winter Sports of Michigan" is a good slogan. Let's try and live up to it.

Mr. Clyde Hum of Detroit has made reservations at Shoppenegons Inn and costs.

MICH. RETAIL LUMBER DEALERS ASSN. TO MEET IN GRAND RAPIDS FEB. 5-6-7

Retail Lumber Dealers, in all parts of Michigan, are looking forward to the Forty-first Annual Convention of the Michigan Retail Lumber Dealers Association which will be held in Grand Rapids, February 5, 6, and 7. This association, while old in years, has within the past four years made such progressive steps forward in promoting the home building idea that it is now classed as one of the most active and influential Lumber Associations in the country. Advanced reservations indicate that the convention this year will exceed in numbers any previous gathering, and a program has been arranged of interest to dealers large and small in all parts of the state.

The Annual Conventions are culminations of local and sectional meetings which are held in different parts of Michigan during the year, and at which lumber dealers get together to discuss matters of common interest. Many of the ideas, suggestions and recommendations involved in the local meetings have an interest outside of the immediate group where they are brought out, and are carried to the State Conventions where they receive the attention of delegates from widely separated parts of the State.

An array of speakers, most of them of national reputation, will discuss vital matters of lumber merchandising and selling while the heads of the different departments of the Association will make their usual reports.

One of the most important phases of the Association's work for the general public is the Architectural and Publicity Service maintained through the faculty members from Cheboygan High School. The debate is Northerners will have a busy evening, the judges and the visiting team can expect that the team will come for this game.

This week is being spent in search of the proper combination to turn back Alpena and even the count, Judy.

It is expected that a number from Grayling will be in attendance at the meeting.

Gothro, LaGrow, and SanCartier from

From these men the starting five will be chosen.

Coach Cushman, when interviewed, said that he has every confidence in his team and is sure that Alpena will face the toughest sort of opposition.

He has been pointing the team toward the tournament in March and the results will show without a doubt on the high school's good floor, and before a home crowd. Certainly

NEWS & COMMENTS FROM WASHINGTON

(By Congressman Roy O. Woodrum, Tenth Michigan District.)

The direct questions of the property right of a broadcaster in a particular broadcasting channel over which his station has been operating under license, and of the constitutionality of the Federal Radio Act have been certified for determination by the Supreme Court. The decision will fix to a great degree the fate of general broadcasting and will mark the high peak of the desperate struggle made by the Radio Corporation to hold the air.

Interest and dividend payments by railroads, industrial and miscellaneous corporations, banks and insurance companies broke all records in January when they reached a level of 20 per cent above the 1929 January figure.

This is evidence in concrete form that America is financially sound despite the unfortunate occurrences of the latter months of 1929 in the stock market.

Postmaster General Walter Brown's declaration in his Cleveland speech last week that the transcontinental air-mail carriage has created much discussion in the cloakrooms and the corridors of the Capitol. Opinion, while diversified as to the form and amount of aid to be given, agrees that something must be done along that line if aviation is to continue to advance. The present depression is seasonal, of course, and natural, but the need for some sort of government aid is becoming apparent.

A resolution introduced in the Senate this week by Senator Arthur Capper of Kansas, proposing an amendment to the Constitution relative to marriage and divorce laws is destined to attract not only extend comment, but bitter opposition and warm support. It is a question which, if pushed for consideration, may become as bitter in spots as the Eighteenth Amendment. Yet it must be admitted that there is a decided discrepancy in the laws of the various states now.

A bill pending in the House increasing the authorization of appropriations for Federal aid to the states for highway construction from $75,000,000 to $125,000,000 annually for the fiscal years ending June 30, 1931, 1932, and 1933, will be expedited under a rule ordered reported by the House Committee.

A hearing on January 16 was held on two bills now pending providing for the supervision of Gold Star Mothers' trips to American cemeteries overseas, and for the extension of time for return of mothers taken ill while abroad. It is probable both bills will pass.

The American farmer is the most efficient in the world, due to his high intelligence and the mechanization of farm work, according to a statement made public this week by the Department of Agriculture. The estimated total available primary horsepower of farms increased from approximately 7,000,000 in 1920 to 47,500,000 in 1929. It has continued to increase in like ratio.

The hen cannot be fooled. She cannot be made to lay more than a normal number of eggs, nor can eggs be made more fertile by the use of drugs, is the warning of the Department of Agriculture to poultrymen to beware of worthless preparations alleged to increase egg production and fertility. "No known drug nor combination of drugs when fed to poultry will increase egg production."

BETTER HOMES CAMPAIGN

MRS. JOSEPH CHAIRMAN BETTER HOMES CAMPAIGN

Mrs. Eva R. Joseph has been appointed to head a committee of local citizens for the purpose of planning a Better Homes campaign in Grayling.

This appointment was made from the National office of Better Homes in America in Washington, D. C., which each year sponsors a nationwide program for the improvement of housing conditions. The organization is headed by Secretary Wilbur who succeeded President Hoover as its president. Mr. Hoover now serves as honorary chairman. Dr. James Ford is in active charge of the campaign.

Better Homes in America is a non-commercial, educational organization which has for its object the improvement of housing conditions and the promotion of a wholesome type of home and family circle. Its program is adapted to local needs by each of the thousands of committees which have been established in cities, towns, and villages throughout the country.

The campaign is sponsored locally by parent-teacher associations, women's clubs, civic associations, and in some communities by schools and colleges, as a part of their educational program. This is done in the study of economics, manual training, civics, English and art.

A man or woman who is active in civic affairs is appointed in each community to serve as chairman of the Better Homes committee for that place. This chairman then selects a committee of representative men and women to conduct the campaign. These campaigns vary according to the size and conditions of the community, and include programs of lectures, demonstrations, and contests. The demonstration of reconditioning an old and perhaps dilapidated house, to make it comfortable and convenient, is another phase of Better Homes work. Such houses are usually furnished with done-over furniture and both house and furnishings then become worth while object lessons.

The house demonstration is supplemented by contests, such as small house and garden competition, improvement contests and kitchen improvement contests. Schools participate usually through essay and poster contests, taking house building or homemaking as their subject. Students of home economics give public demonstrations of the use of labor-saving devices and methods of performing household operations. All of these programs have their culmination in Better Homes Week, which will be observed throughout the country April 27 to May 3rd, 1930.

The central office of Better Homes in America at Washington acts also as a clearing house for information on all phases of home building and home life.

WILLIAM POWELL

Biographical Sketch by C. W. Montrose.

"Will ye hear then the story how it unfolds itself surely and certain? Come then, ring up the curtain!"

—From the opera "Pagliacci."

For more than two score years a man has been coming here to enjoy the glories of our summers. Here very few people know this man and still fewer are the ones who have been fortunate to meet him.

Before birth, the Creator cast him for one of the greatest actors the stage has ever known and the recital of his many successes sounds like a fairy tale.

Fifteen seasons spent with the world-renowned "Vaughn-Glaser" players is a record that speaks volumes and clearly reveals a story of Herculean efforts, unceasing devotion to art and the stage but particularly presents indisputable proof of Bill Powell's extraordinary histrionic ability.

His roles have successively made him depict "The sad fruits of love and passion—hearts that weep in anguish—cries of rage—hellish hatred and bitter laughter. His parts have dropped him into the bottomless pit of unspeakable horror and inexpressible misery, and the impetus of overpowering emotions have made him soar into the realms of ineffable bliss, gay laughter and happiness.

Spelled out, his audiences have lived and suffered with him through the nightmarish horror of mystery plays, and his superb portrayals of dramatic parts brought burning tears to the eyes of women and caused the hearts of men to ache with longings unfilled.

His keen sense of unaffected natural humor and wit launched his rapt listeners into gales of uncontrollable laughter and the echo still remains in the minds of those who laughed with him.

And now—Bill Powell has almost come to the end of the trail—a trail as few men have had the courage to travel to its successful termination.

Ah, think then dear people when your mind's eye beholds him "clad in his motley and tinsel" that his is a human heart beating with passion. He is but a man like you for gladness or sorrow and it is the same broad heaven above him and the same wide lonely world before him. Blood, not water, flows in his veins and his silent deeds of human kindness to those in deep distress have earned for him the sobriquet of Daddy Bill.

As he gazes over the shimmering waters of his beloved Lake Margrethe, his dreamy eyes observe the slowly setting sun on the horizon of a well-spent life, and he watches sadly but satisfied the lowering curtain on the stage of Time.

Night falls tremblingly and the last lamp burns low. A long lone road spans before him but there are many who cry out to Bill.

"Look with your dear old eyes in mine

Give me a handshake true

Whatever fate our souls await

Let me be there

Let me be there—with you.

The dinner will be given at the Club rooms at 6:00 o'clock Wednesday evening, January 29th. Plates will be 75 cents each. Anyone interested will be welcome to attend. Tickets will be on sale by Secretary A. J. Joseph. Members of the Board and their ladies are especially invited.

LETTER FROM FR. RIESS

St. Mary's Church

Grand Rapids, Mich.

January 16, 1930.

Mr. O. P. Schumann,

Grayling, Mich.

My Dear Mr. Schumann:

Yours of the 6th inst. at hand and wish to tell you that I was very pleased to hear from you and also to receive such a newsy letter.

We read the Avalanche and are interested in the "Old Home Town" or as Dr.

Palmer was wont to put it, "The Only Town on the Map!" True, many new names have appeared in the paper, but we are still interested in the welfare of the great city—Grayling.

I am very busy here in the Furniture

City. I have a large parish and all kinds of work—but I like work.

True, we have little time for our own selves,

but one gets great satisfaction of the fact one spends himself for his fellowmen. The people are very good to me—in fact, they received me with open arms and have kept me close to their hearts ever since.

They are fine people—just as the dear people at Grayling. I certainly miss Grayling and my friends of the "glorious north," because Grayling and missions were really "Home" to me;

and, as you so graciously put it,

"we were one family"—always ready to do for one another. That's the spirit that counts and you do not find it in larger cities. I can and will never forget Grayling and the happy hours both of joy and labor I spent there. They were the making of a young "Sky Pilot" and caused the way to be paved to larger and more responsible fields.

Grayling and my experiences, work and friends of the North have contributed to my success and happiness which I enjoy at present. I have many, many times wished, yes prayed, to be "back in Grayling" with "my dear old

Grayling friends." Kindly remember me to all my friends.

Best wishes for a happy, prosperous and God-disposes.

We must obey the order of our superiors.

Well, kind friend, I have taken up too much of your valuable time; please pardon me. I just want you to know that I appreciate your kind letter and that my thoughts are often back "Home" with "my dear old Grayling friends."

Kindly remember me to all my friends.

Best wishes for a happy, prosperous and God-disposes.

Sincerely yours,

REV. JOHN J. RIESS.

TO END ALL WARS

The representatives of five of the leading powers of the world, England

France, Italy, Japan and the United States, seated themselves around a table in St. James Palace, London,

this week charged with the most important mission ever entrusted to human beings—the adoption of a policy that will practically assure the end for all time of hostilities between these great nations.

This would be an easy task if nations actually represented their own people—for the people as a whole abstain from war and the suffering and miseries that entails. In private life, we may resent an insult, no matter how deliberate or studied, yet evade entering into personal conflict. In a nation all sense insults are wiped out by war.

Intercourse between nations must be reduced to admit of the personal equation in our dealings with each other. We must regard each other more as individuals than as nations.

World powers may reduce their fighting strength on land and sea, but until national suspicion is eliminated

the tinder for another world warfareion only awaits the torch of the fanatic.

The London meeting is a

NEWS REVIEW OF CURRENT EVENTS

Center of Stage in Capital Held by Prohibition Enforcement.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

PROHIBITION was again the dominant topic in Washington, displacing the tariff and the naval conference in London. Nevertheless, spurred by political pressure, the Wisconsin crime commission made a preliminary report and in submitting it to Congress President Hoover made recommendations for legislation designed to facilitate enforcement of the dry laws. Then the fireworks started.

The commission's report was thus neatly summarized by the Boston Herald:

"In effect Chairman Wickesham and his associates say: 'Whether the Eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act are wise legislation or not, we do not choose to say. The law is here. Conditions in the courts and elsewhere are such that enforcement under ideal conditions has not been responsible. Set up some new machinery for enforcement, try it a while and ultimately we may have something to say on prohibition as a problem. We defer judgment meanwhile.'

The four major recommendations made by the commission:

"Unification of enforcement under the Department of Justice.

"Machinery for speeding up prohibition cases in the federal court.

"Codification of all statutes relating to prohibition.

"Amendment of Volstead act to facilitate prosecution of padlock infractions.

Here is what President Hoover asked of congress:

Reorganization of the federal court structure so as to give relief from congestion.

Consolidation of the various agencies engaged in prevention of smuggling of liquor, narcotics, other merchandise, and aliens over our frontiers.

Provision of adequate prisons and reorganization of parole and other practices.

Specific legislation for the District of Columbia.

Legislation to give United States court commissioners enlarged powers in minor criminal cases.

Transfer of prohibition machinery from Treasury department to the Department of Justice.

In THE house these recommendations were referred to the several committees especially concerned, and there was an apparent disposition to push the administration measures through in quick time; but it was thought they would encounter much opposition in the senate. The constitutional lawyers in both houses were prepared to fight especially the committee's "plan to get rid" of the Great Lakes commissioners to handle dry prohibition cases on the ground that it deprived citizens of their constitutional right of trial by jury. Mr. Wickesham explained that this was a misapprehension; the plan merely assuring the defendant a speedy trial with the right to appeal to another court in which he would be tried by a jury.

The wets in the house organized for the coming battles by electing J. Charles Lithium of Maryland leader of the bloc. Previously Representative James M. Beck of Pennsylvania had declined the post, explaining that while he opposed the prohibition law, he believed it to be the manifest duty of the administration to enforce it.

Representative Le Guardia of New York made a surprise attack on the drys when he raised a point of order on the prohibition provisions of the pending "Treasury department appropriation bill" and offered a resolution to delete the Eighteenth amendment as inoperative. Le Guardia set forth the proposition that only ten of the state legislatures ratified the Eighteenth amendment within seven years, as required by its third section. The others, he said, waited merely the joint resolution, which later became the constitutional article. He argued, the amendment and its enforcement legislation automatically died three years ago.

A LL the talk has centered with the tenth anniversary of the advent of national prohibition, and at the same time the anti-slavery forces opened its campaign against sugar convention in Detroit. The leaders of the organization announced plans for raising a "war chest" of $500,000 for use during the next ten years and said they were determined to fight utterly the organized forces that seek repeal or modification of the Eighteenth Amendment and the Volstead act. General Superintendent F. Scott McBride in his address assuming a rather remarkable knowledge of the Creator's ideals, declared: "The league was born of God. It has been led by Him and will fight on while He leads."

Dr. A. E. Burton, chairman of the executive committee said: "The Anti-Saloon league is the most powerful and feared organization in America. The wets are more and more numbered. At the strength of our organization in a pitying and patronizing way they announce that we are dead or at least moribund. The wish is father to the thought—they know that we are very much alive."

ON THURSDAY the Senate, by a majority of ten votes, rejected the proposal of the independent senators for an increase in the sugar quota. The amendment of Senator Professor of Mississippi, offering an extension of the tariff of 17½ cents per pound Cuban sugar was adopted, 47 to 32. The sugar committee had proposed a rate of 2.20 cents on Cuban sugar and the bill passed by the Senate put the rate at 2.40 cents.

The Western Independent Republicans, who concur with the Democrats to back out of the Republican all-rate increases except those on agricultural products, split on the other side. Senators Bryan of Idaho and Norris of Nebraska, leaders of the bloc, were among those voting against the amendment.

GOVERNOR GREEN of Michigan acting on recommendation of Arthur D. White, commissioner of pardons and paroles, has commuted the sentences of the five victims of the auto "orum" fire, for 15 years, reducing their terms from life imprisonment to 7½ to 15 years in conformity to the amended statute. The sixth sentenced under the former law committed suicide in his cell.

Oscar G. Olander, Michigan's commissioner of public safety, announced that the state police would be provided with fast automobiles equipped with machine guns and tear bombs to stop run-runs between Detroit and Chicago. The officers will wear bullet proof vests.

In Providence, R. I., a special grand jury called to consider evidence in the slaying of three men aboard the race runner Black Duck by gangsters was reported to the Superior court after thorough investigation, it had found no indictment.

SECRETARY OF STATE STIMSON and the rest of the American delegation to the naval limitation conference landed at Plymouth Friday morning and were speedily carried up to London. There Mr. Stimson spent several hours in conference with Prime Minister MacDonald, and on the two following days he talked confidentially and at length with Premier Tardieu of France, and Dino Grandi, Italian foreign minister. Presumably these conversations did much to clear the way to a tentative agreement in the conference, which was to open Tuesday.

To the advance guard of the newspaper correspondents from all over the world Mr. MacDonald said Great Britain would propose the abolition of battleships and submarines, not with any great hope of obtaining total abolition, but in the strong hope of securing a drastic reduction in these forms of armament and their possible extinction after a term of years. He favors reduction by categories rather than global tonnage, but France and probably Italy are committed to the latter plan and it is believed the United States is ready to accept it. The French and Italian delegations were reported still far apart on the question of naval parity. However, fair minded observers in London were convinced that all five of the delegations were sincere in their desire to obtain results of real international value and that while each of them would implement adequate national defense, all were against the principle of armed supremacy. Therefore there is reason for optimism.

D ELEGATES of the allies and of Germany in the conference at The Hague finally reached an agreement on the several questions of sanctions and formulated two declarations on the subject to be part of the Young plan protocol, the way to the signing of which was thus cleared. Germany agreed that in case of a misapprehension, the plan merely assuring the defendant a speedy trial with the right to appeal to another court in which he would be tried by a jury.

The wets in the house organized for the coming battles by electing J. Charles Lithium of Maryland leader of the bloc. Previously Representative James M. Beck of Pennsylvania had declined the post, explaining that while he opposed the prohibition law, he believed it to be the manifest duty of the administration to enforce it.

Representative Le Guardia of New York made a surprise attack on the drys when he raised a point of order on the prohibition provisions of the pending "Treasury department appropriation bill" and offered a resolution to delete the Eighteenth amendment as inoperative. Le Guardia set forth the proposition that only ten of the state legislatures ratified the Eighteenth amendment within seven years, as required by its third section. The others, he said, waited merely the joint resolution, which later became the constitutional article. He argued, the amendment and its enforcement legislation automatically died three years ago.

A LL the talk has centered with the tenth anniversary of the advent of national prohibition, and at the same time the anti-slavery forces opened its campaign against sugar convention in Detroit. The leaders of the organization announced plans for raising a "war chest" of $500,000 for use during the next ten years and said they were determined to fight utterly the organized forces that seek repeal or modification of the Eighteenth Amendment and the Volstead act. General Superintendent F. Scott McBride in his address assuming a rather remarkable knowledge of the Creator's ideals, declared: "The league was born of God. It has been led by Him and will fight on while He leads."

Dr. A. E. Burton, chairman of the executive committee said: "The Anti-Saloon league is the most powerful and feared organization in America. The wets are more and more numbered. At the strength of our organization in a pitying and patronizing way they announce that we are dead or at least moribund. The wish is father to the thought—they know that we are very much alive."

C OVEN CLARK returned to Peiping from a six weeks inspection trip to the Wei River district, on behalf of the China International Banking Bureau and reported that thousands of persons are dying daily from famine and starvation. He declared five million are forced to die daily. A few months back there was a hope of saving them because of the favorable effects of the winter. About fifty persons were killed and many injured, the majority of deaths being due to the blinding of vessels.

O N THURSDAY the Senate, by a majority of ten votes, rejected the proposal of the independent senators for an increase in the sugar quota. The amendment of Senator Professor of Mississippi, offering an extension of the tariff of 17½ cents per pound Cuban sugar was adopted, 47 to 32. The sugar committee had proposed a rate of 2.20 cents on Cuban sugar and the bill passed by the Senate put the rate at 2.40 cents.

In this the children seem exhibiting more sense than elders who are still conducting bar saloons and turning the night into ribald revelry. Not the majority of parents can be charged with this kind of conduct, but a sufficient number in every community to cause alarm.

It's about time we quit turning our social problems over to state legislatures and begin getting busy ourselves. We are all interested in better boys and girls and Dr. Samuel S. Drury, rector of St. Paul's School for boys at Concord, New Hampshire, has set down from his long experience in dealing with youth some excellent precepts which every parent can follow with benefit to the family circle. Dr. Drury says:

"1. Make the second decade of youths' life breezy, wholesome and simple.

"2. Provide the spur of necessity for them, especially if you are wealthy.

"3. Don't invite other people's children to parties primarily arranged for elder people.

"4. Don't destroy young people's characters in order to make one of your parties 'successful.'

"5. Don't offer children in their second decade liquor, unless they are your own children. (Which rule Dr. Drury really directs to members of the 'second decade' themselves. It runs: Don't drink unless at your father's table.)

"6. Give your boy or girl at least a month in camp, a cruise on a tanker, or a course at a citizens' training camp during the summer vacation.

"7. Don't postpone your child's education. Begin in January what you contemplate for him in July.

"8. Don't hesitate to place your boy from 16 to 19 in unsupervised situations in life. There is an inner armor boys possess during these years that keeps them from the smirch of the world.

"9. Don't put the smirch that creeps into older minds into the minds of those in the 'second decade.'

"10. Give your growing boy a thrilling job, one that taxes his powers and puts him on his own responsibility.

"11. Don't 'fiddle around' with your boy or girl. Theirs not to make reply' during the 'second decade.' There should be no rule without reason. But YOU SHOULD RULE!"

Latin Long "Dead" Language

Originally Latin was spoken by the inhabitants of the ancient city of Rome and by the tribe called the Latini, who lived on the plain of Litus, south of the Tiber. Various other languages were at the same time used in Italy.

Gradually as the Romans conquered the neighboring Italian towns, and their power increased, the Latin language spread through Europe. Latin was spoken in central Italy probably as early as 10 or 15 centuries before our era. It ceased to be a living tongue about the eighth century of our era.

Proves He's a "Marrying Justice"

Justice Powers At Home At Crown Point, Ind., displaying more than 100 wedding rings he has collected after that many couples performed during his fourteen years as justice.

UNCLE SAM EATS MORE MARGARINE THAN PREVIOUSLY

CHICAGO.—Consumption of margarine in the United States in the last year increased 12 per cent over 1928, according to a report just made public here by Dr. J. S. Abbott, secretary of the Institute of Margarine Manufacturers.

"The consumption this year was 338,121,451 pounds as compared to 294,662,283 pounds in 1928," the report states. "This important increase is due principally to a more intelligent understanding on the part of the public of the composition and food value of margarine, to lower prices effected through economies in manufacture, lessened cost of food fats and other materials entering into its composition, mass production, a generous newspaper advertising policy, and improvement of the quality of the product by the application of scientific methods of production resulting from continuous research in the preparation of this article of food.

"In Europe and the United Kingdom, where margarine is a stable table necessity, the annual consumption was in excess of 2,250,000,000 pounds.

The per capita consumption in Great Britain was 7.78 pounds in 1928 as compared with 12.28 pounds in 1924. In Germany it was 10.3 pounds in 1928 as compared with 15.8 pounds in 1928. Denmark presented the best example of a rising curve in margarine consumption. In that country the per capita consumption was 34.6 pounds in 1922 as compared with 45.1 pounds per capita in 1928."

Future of the margarine industry, the report states, would seem to hold the promise of wider markets, especially in the United States, and increasing production.

NEWSPAPER ADS AID RAZOR SALES

NEW YORK.—Capitalizing the prestige of years of newspaper advertising, the Autostrop Safety Razor Company here, entering the razor blade field with a new product, did three times the business officials expected in the first month their probab blade was on the market, according to Charles M. Pritzker, advertising manager, in an address here.

"Though we believed that trade and consumer good will achieved through the columns of the press was worth a great deal, the company did not appreciate by one-third its actual dollar and cents value," declared Mr. Pritzker.

"Eight years of research were required before we produced a blade worthy of our prestige. Then we conducted months of test. We packed the blades in a distinctive type of package of brilliant butterfly colors,

red, blue, and two kinds of green, and we released three distinct campaigns, the first modernistic, the second sensational, and the third, conservative.

"From the first we found that our prestige, gained by years of newspaper advertising, readily gained jobber and dealer acceptance. We obtained immediate results, and, strangely enough, the conservative campaign proved far the strongest."

ECONOMICAL DINNER MENU FOR SUNDAY

CHICAGO.—Sunday dinner with all the trimmings for a family of five may be put on the table for approximately $4.98, according to the American Research Foundation, which has just made public its economical Sunday dinner menu.

Here's the way the home fixins would look on a menu card of a fashionable restaurant, with the tricky

French phrases deleted: consomme, heart of celery, roast goose with rice stuffing, beet-stewed bean ensemble, stuffed prune salad, rolls and margarine, coffee and cream, and pumpkin pie.

"If the home manager would serve dinner economically she should substitute goose for more expensive fowls," the foundation's bulletin states. "Eight pounds of goose at thirty-five cents a pound should be ample for the family of five, and this total of $2.00 is the sum allowed for the main dish in the model economic meal. The figure of $4.98 also considers that wholesome margarine be used both in the preparation of the meal and as a spread for bread. Use of these two items in themselves results in a saving equal to nearly one fourth the total cost of the dinner.

"Expenses entailed in the serving of the remaining dishes should read approximately as follows: consomme, fifteen cents; celery, fifteen cents;

beets, eighteen cents; rice stuffing,

forty cents; prune salad, thirty cents;

rolls and margarine, twenty cents;

coffee and cream, twenty cents; and pumpkin pie, forty cents."

Considered—from-the standpoint of nutritive value, the dietetics of the model meal given, the bulletin indicates could not be improved in a reap-costing-twenty dollars.

Cutting Mob Spirit
The explosion "read the riot act" seems to warn or reprimand. As early as 1715 England had a statute for preventing tumultuous and riotous assemblies. The act provided that in case of 12 persons or more unlawfully assembling and disturbing the peace, an officer could make proclamation of the general provisions of the riot act and call upon them to disperse; if they failed to obey, they were guilty of rioting.

LIFE'S PHILOSOPHY

A little work, a little play,
To keep us going,
And so—
Good Day.
A little warmth, a little light,
Of love's bestowing,
And so—
Good Night.
A little joy to match the sorrow
Of each day's growing,
And so—
Good Morrow.
A little trust that when we die,
We may reap our sowing,
And so—
Good Bye.

—Selected.

OLD FAITHFUL

At the beginning of a new year we often read mention of this or that employee's many years of faithful service to one employer, or in the same establishment—so I thought it "timely" at this time to devote a little space to the editor's "one-fifty" nickelplated alarm clock, which has hung on the composing room wall for eighteen years and more (for it was a fixture before the present owner came into possession of the plant), ticking off the hours of toll and "rest," unmindful of the heat or cold, or whether the operator fell asleep at the switch and sounded the public siren fifteen minutes after lunch time, or omitted sounding it at all. This faithful monitor works alike in daylight or in darkness, under "fast time" or "slow time," never going on a "strike" nor giving a "false alarm." No maker's name appears upon the case—only the legend "Hathaway's Special" and "Made in the U. S. A." (C. J. Hathaway was former jeweler in Grayling). If any printshop or business place has an alarm clock of the same style and price, with as good, or better record we would like to hear from them.

APPETIZING HEADACHES

The transposition of a linotype slug gave a rather odd ending to an article in the Detroit Sunday News, regarding a recipe for non-alcoholic mint julep, and also other recipes for fruit punch, grape juice fizz, etc., by the national president of the W. C. T. U. The article closed as follows:

"All of these drinks, Mrs. Boole . . . declare, are . . . tasty and appetizing headaches."

LET 'EM GO GALLAGHER

With reference to a recent paragraph in this column regarding the sending of Christmas greeting cards, the following may be of interest:

"Following the suggestions of Mur DeFee, Charlotte editor, I omitted Christmas cards. I sent the money usually spent on cards to Mr. Tripp for the Welfare fund. I hope to be able to continue contributing to the welfare fund, but I shall not refrain from sending my friends Christmas cards in the future. For by the same token that I and my wife appreciate receiving cards and the thoughts behind them, perhaps our friends will be glad to know that we too think of them. I get a distinct 'kick' out of Christmas cards."—Fred C. Gallagher in the Allegan News.

Words of Encouragement

We have no hand that can hold power, control the sun, and the power on the earth, but we have the love of God, and His will be done. We have no power, but we have the love of God, and His will be done.

FIRST STEAM Carriage Met With Disapproval

The London Times reprints the following from its issue of August 1, 1829: A Gurney's steam carriage arrived on Monday, at the Crawford Bridge Inn, from an experimental tour to and from Bath. The success of this trial much exceeds the most sanguine friends of the invention. Mr. Gurney, his brother, Colonel Viney, Captain Dobbin and assistants started from Crawford bridge about 4 a.m. They proceeded at a most rapid rate to Maidenhead, which they reached, notwithstanding two or three delays, in about an hour and five minutes—a distance of nearly fifteen miles. After this proof of their capability of speed, they traveled more leisurely, until they arrived near Malmesbury where they were attacked by some brutal fellows who, imagined they were "come to take the bread out of their mouths." To prevent similar occurrences, it was thought advisable to draw the carriage the remainder of the way by horses. Having exhibited the powers and practicability of the invention publicly in Bath, the party left early on Monday morning to return. Prudential considerations induced them not to light their fire until they had passed the place of their late arrival. They then lit wood, and amidst the most provoking delays in securing supplies of water, coke, and charcoal, came the last 24 miles in about 12 hours, thus giving the proof experimental of the capacity of using steam carriages on ordinary roads.

Cured Small Dogs of "Finickiness" at Meals

Meal time generally was a trying period in the Brown household invariably. Both didn't like half the things that were served, and Billy expressed a dislike for the other half. Often they agreed on the same item. It required threats and persuasion to force them to partake of the food provided, but at length the Browns decided on a new method.

For weeks they compiled a list of the eatables that the boys hated, and served them exclusively for dinner.

There was a howl of anguish from the two urchins as they gazed at the table. The parents passed the various dishes instead of Mr. Brown serving them but the boys, with a pained look, took tiny helpings or passed them up entirely. They pecked at the food and went to bed hungry, for Mrs. Brown had seen to it that there was nothing in the larder to attract them.

This went on for several meals, and the boys finally had to surrender.

Now they actually are fond of some of the viands they formerly detested.

However, neither has been heard since thus to kick about any item of the food. They are afraid they'll have to eat it for days at a time.—New York Sun.

Africa's Sausage Tree

One-of-Kind Known

A tree which bears fruit apparently only to deceive is the so-called "sausage tree" of East Africa, a queer tree if a queer one is to be found.

As the sausage tree is approached while bearing fruit often reaches a length of two feet, with a most inviting look but a most disappointing result upon inspection.

The exterior seems to be edible upon a glance, but the interior is hard and woody pulp, neither tempting to the palate nor edible.

The tree, which is a member of the catalpa family, has a use, however, and enters into both the religious and medical life of the natives of the country where it is found. The negro tribes of Nubia consider the tree sacred and hold religious festivals in the moonlight beneath its branches.

Poles made from the trees are erected before the houses of the chiefs and are worshipped by other members of the tribe.

The natives cut and roast the sausages and place the cut sides against parts of their bodies afflicted with rheumatism and similar complaints.—Washington Star.

Evening Parade of Crawfish

Shellfish have their peculiarities from the crawfish that hold a goose-step march at sunset to the crab that decorates himself with all sorts of undersized life. Looking down into clear depths at sunset where the crawfish are abundant, one may be lucky enough to see the crawfish parade in their ridiculous, solemn fashion, their goggly eyes peering about and their long, stilted legs going up and down.

The procession is single file, the nose of one crawfish close to the tail of the one ahead. Whether it is a concerted stalk for the evening meal, for exercise, or simply a sort of crawfish evening ritual, it is impossible to tell.

Canada's Status

Canada is not an independent nation in the same sense as is the United States Canada is a self-governing dominion within the British empire.

At the imperial conference of 1926 the position of Canada and other self-governing dominions was defined as follows:

"They are autonomous communities within the British empire equal in status, in no way subordinate one to another in any aspect of their domestic or external affairs, though united by a common allegiance to the crown, and freely associated as members of the British Commonwealth of nations."

French Judicial System

The ordinary judicial system of France consists of two classes of courts—civil and criminal courts, similar to those in other countries, and special courts, including those dealing only with purely commercial cases.

In addition there are administrative courts, dealing with cases that come through acts of the administration; also the Tribunals des Conflits, whose function it is to decide which is the proper tribunal when an administrative and a judicial court both claim or both refuse to deal with a given case.

There is also the Juge de Paix, similar to the American Justices of the peace and the Court of Assizes; also the Cour de Cassation, which is the highest tribunal.

Smart Dogs Die Young

Ten thousand white ones and sixty black ones! Go round 'em, Shep!"

This command was supposed to have been given to a certain sheep dog in Montana, and presumably he thereupon rounded up the sheep and counted them. But the poor dog's dead now; brain fever, no doubt.

It is strange that when anyone tells a tale of some extraordinary animal, be it a dog, horse, or cat, he usually adds an afterthought, "He's dead now, poor fellow." In fact, some one with time to spare ought to make study of the high mortality rate among canine and other animal wonders; and after satisfying himself on that point, he might turn to a closely allied topic, the regrettable longevity of cheerful hares.—From "Sheep," by Archer B. Gillian.

World's Oldest Tune

The tune to which the popular ditty "For he's a jolly good fellow" is sung is said to be the oldest tune known to man. Its origin says Looker on in the London Daily Chronicle, is lost in antiquity.

Researchers brought to light that it was well-known to the ancient Egyptians, and that they probably got it from Babylon, but beyond this the trail is lost.

Visitors to Latin America have heard the melody there; it is known to the native tribes of South America, and it is frequently used by the aborigines of Australia, as well as by the Maoris and Arabs. It came to England when the Crusaders returned from the Holy Land, and it was used by these old-time warriors as a sort of war song when they were besieging Jerusalem.

Business "Overhead"

Speaking in general terms, by overhead is meant those items of general expense of a manufacturing plant (for instance) which are additional to the cost of the labor and material actually entering into the production of the plant. For example, under overhead it is usual to group salaries of officials, office expenses, all indirect labor, traveling-expenses of salesmen, interest, insurance, legal expenses, care of plant; depreciation also frequently is included under such head.

Get Out and Hustle

Far better is it to work your way to success than to keep your way into failure. Labor will always get you a lot more sympathy. Drops of sweat from honest effort are far more productive than idle tears from weak-willed ones.

Fighting Gambling

From the earliest history of city governments—there have been efforts to regulate gambling—but in 1800, in New York the movement to check open gambling became particularly strong and from ten to twelve regulations were passed. By 1805 nearly all the chief cities had enacted similar laws.

Where Notables Gambled

In the Horse and Grocer, tavern Streatham, London, is the direct successor to the famous old tap of the same name, wherein the Prince Regent, afterward King George IV, used to frequent with his boon companions.

In the spring and others were longing to follow him, and Decatur, Minnesota, the Stables, being considered suitable for each of the several noted men, had invited the prince.

PEW PERSONS TODAY WHO ARE NOT IN A POSITION TO SAVE MONEY

(By S. W. Straus, President American Society for Thrift.)

Students of economic conditions in this country tell us that poverty is steadily being eliminated through the processes of education. There was a time within the memory of many now living when dire poverty existed in every city if not in every community. The general standard of living has been steadily advancing for the last fifty years and conditions are such today that there is hardly a person anywhere who is not in a position to save money if he so chooses.

This does not mean that all who are able to save are doing so. There are many who do not.

Numerous persons excuse themselves from practicing thrift on the plea that they cannot have anything and maintain a good standard of living. While it may be true in some isolated cases that circumstances over which they have no control make it impossible for them to get ahead in the world, these instances are exceptional.

The old saying, "Where there's a will there's a way," applies with full force to the practice of saving money. Those who do not save or who think they cannot are not fair with themselves. They are unwilling to make certain sacrifices. Their minds are biased by false pride or egotism. Their viewpoint is incorrect.

If they should think the problem clear through they would determine to find ways by which they could save something even though the amounts be small.

Upon one's ability to find such ways of saving money, depends very much of one's chances of success in life.

This is a phase of the matter that should be given the deepest consideration. Also it should be borne in mind that those who are not sufficiently interested in their own welfare to lay a certain portion of their earnings aside for the future do not care enough about real success ever to achieve any substantial place in the affairs of the world.

Before there can be success there must be a desire to succeed. And this desire must be so deep that it overcomes every barrier.
